How Watch Cases are Made.

This process of manufacture was invented by James Boss, who started in business in 1854, and the methods and tools used in making these watch cases are covered by patents. This is the only watch case made under this process. For many years the introduction of these goods was slow, owing to popular prejudice against "plated" goods, but gradually the public learned that the James Boss' Gold Watch Case was not a cheap gold-washed or electro-plated article, but was made of genuine gold plates of standard quality and thickness. Conscientious adherence to the determination to make the best watch case ever put on the market, and the adoption of every improvement suggested, has made the James Boss' Gold Watch Case the STANDARD. TRADE MARK. In this watch case the parts most subject to wear—the bow, crown, hinges, thumb-catches, etc., are made of SOLID GOLD.

Stories on the Road.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS AT A WAYSIDE INN—SOMETHING TO PUT IN A GRIPSACK.

"Gentlemen, I almost envy you the positions you fill; your experience of the world; your knowledge of business; the changing signts you see, and all that, you know."

This warmly expressed regret fell from the lips of an elderly pleasure tourist, last August, and was addressed to a semicircle of commercial travellers seated on the porch of the Lindell Hotel, St. Louis, Mo.

"Yes," responded a New York representative of the profession, "a drummer isn't without his pleasures, but he runs his risks, too—risks outside the chances of railroad collisions and steamboat explosions."

"What risks for instance?"

"This, for instance," said Mr. W. D. Franklin, who was then traveling for an Eastern house, and is known to merchants in all parts of the country: "The risk—which indeed amounts almost to a certainty—of getting the dyspepsia from perpetual chang of diet and water and from having no fixed hours for sleeping. I myse f was an example. I say was, for I a m all right now."

"No discount on your digestion?" broke in a Chicago dry goods traveler, lighting his cigar afresh.

"Not a quarter per cent. But I had to give up traveling for a while. The dyspepsia ruined my paper. Finally I come across an advertisement of PARKER'S TO-IC. I tried it and it fixed me up to perfection. There is nothing on earth, in my opinion equal to it as a cure for dyspepsia."

Messrs. Isoux & Co., of New York, the proprietors, hold a letter from Mr. Franklin stating that precise fact. PARKER'S TO-IC aids digestion, cures Malarial Fevers, Heartburn, Headaches, Coughs and Cold', and a l chronic diseases of the Liver and Kidneys. Put a bottle in your valise. Prices, 5 c. and $1. SELECT STORY.

HE BROKE UP THE SCHOOL.

"That is the new school house, is it?" inquired Miss Alice Ray, the "new teacher," as the farmer's plodding little team passed by a little white house standing endwise to the road, inclosed in a rather dilapidated fence.

"Yes, there's where you'll hold forth," remarked Uncle Zeke Woodburn, "but I'm afeerd you won't hold out long, for we've got the toughest set of boys in the State," and Uncle Zeke gave a kind of crackling little laugh as he thought of the timid, demure little damsel at his side controlling the boys of Bear creek school.

"But don't the directors expel them when they are beyond the control of the teacher?" asked Alice, her heart beginning to sink at the prospect before her.

"Expel 'em! no, we never expel nobody; if a teacher can't boss the school we just let it boss him; it ain't our fight, an' the school here generally bosses the teacher, and thar's been some pretty good men licked in that school house by the boys."

"I did not know the school was so unruly," said poor Alice, wishing heartily that she had hired out as a washerwoman instead of trying to teach the savages of Bear creek.

"Oh, well, mebbe it won't be so bad this winter; thar's Jim Turner, he's one of the toughest of 'em; he'll be 21 in a month, and you'll get rid of him; but thar's the Brindley boys, they're mighty nigh as bad."

Poor Alice listened with a sinking heart. The cold, hard duties before her were dreary enough at best; but to go alone and unknown into a strange neighborhood to teach her first school, and to be met at the outset by such dark prophesies, made her feel homeless indeed. She was naturally a timid, shrinking little thing, and if she had possessed anywhere on the whole broad earth a roof to shelter her she would have turned back from her Bear creek school even then. But she had no home. Her mother had died when she was but 14, and she had kept house for her father two years, when he died, leaving her all alone. Before he died he advised her to expend the little sum he would be able to leave her in fitting herself for a teacher, and Alice had fulfilled his directions so literally that when she had completed her course at normal school she had hardly $10 left, and when she paid Uncle Zeke for hauling her and her little trunk from the nearest railroad town to the district where she was to teach she had bu. $5 left.

On Monday morning when she started for the school house she felt as if she was going to the scaffold. Her course of pedagogics in the normal institute had included no such a problem as this school promised to be, and if it were not for the very shame she would have given her single $5 bill to any one to take her back to the railroad and pay her fare to L., the town where she had attended school.

When she arrived at the school house about twenty or thirty pupils were grouped around talking, but a spell of silence fell upon them as she walked up and saluted them with a "good morning" which was more like the chirp of a frightened bird than anything else. As she unlocked the door and entered what she had already begun to regard as a chamber of torture, two or three slowly followed her into the room, and depositing their books upon the whittled desks, took seats, and fixed their eyes upon her with a stare that did not help to strengthen her nerves.

All the rules and regulations of her "Theory and Practice of Opening School on the First Day" seemed to vanish and leave her head whirling in dizzy helplessness. She tried to think of some cheerful remark, but her brain refused to form the thought and her tongue clove to the roof of her mouth. She could see in the faces of her pupils, most of whom were now in the schoolroom, that they were aware of her fright and enjoyed it thoroughly. By a strong effort she partly recovered herself and bravely resisted the temptation to lean her head on the desk and have a good cry. She felt that she must do something or faint, so she rang the bell, though it lacked fifteen minutes of 9. She began taking down the names and ages of her pupils, and by the time this was completed she began to feel more at ease. She then began examining the pupils in their different branches in order to assign them to their proper classes. She had finished the examination in all the branches except the advanced reading class, which was principally composed of grown girls and young men, among whom was the terrible Jim Turner, of whom she had been warned.

Several of the members of the class had read, and it was now the turn of Moses Bradley, a huge, heavy-set fellow, with small, malicious eyes and a general air of ruffianism. When he was called upon to read he did not rise from his seat, but began to read in a thick, indistinct voice from a book hidden in his lap.

"Mr. Bradley, will you please stand up when you read?" asked Alice.

"I can read just as well sittin' down," replied the fellow, with a dogged air.

"But it is one of the rules in a reading class to stand up to read," said Alice, her heart quaking with fear as she foresaw the incipient rebellion.

"I reckon you will have to make a new rule for me then," impudently answered Mose, glancing sideways at his companions with a grin of triumph.

"If you do not obey me I shall be obliged to punish you," said Alice bravely, though she could scarcely stand up.

"I guess all the punishing you could do wouldn't break any of my bones," replied the ruffian, leering at her impudently.

"But I can break your bones for you in half a minute, and I'll do it if you don't stand and read as the teacher asked you to," said a voice at the other end of the class, and Alice looked in that direction and saw Jim Turner step from the class and face astonished Mose.

Mose's insolent manner abated in an instant, his face turned pale, and he muttered something about not being "bossed by other boys," but he stood up as he was commanded.

Alice could have kissed her young champion for gratitude, but she mustered all the dignity she could command, and said:

"Mr. Turner, I cannot allow you to interfere in the management of my school; take your seat."

The youth obeyed without a word, but kept his eye on Mose, as if watching for any delinquency. After this little episode the exercises proceeded without interruption till noon.

Alice had no appetite for dinner. She leaned her throbbing head upon the desk and wondered wearily how long she could endure this.

She was aroused by one of the little girls running up to her, exclaiming: "Teacher, teacher, the big boys are fighting!" She followed the child, exclaiming, "Oh, why did I ever come into such a den of wild beasts?" At the rear of the school house stood Jim Turner engaged in a hand-to-hand combat with Mose Bradley and his two brothers, both of whom were grown. As Alice stepped around the corner Jim sent Mose reeling to the earth and then turned like a lion upon his two remaining assailants. They rushed at him from two sides, but Jim was as active as a panther, Bill Bradley fell as if shot, from a left-handed blow, and his brother Tom followed him in an instant. By this time Mose had secured a ball bat and rushed for Jim, but the latter evaded the blow, and wrenching the bat from his hand knocked Mose headlong with a blow of his fist.

As the discomfitted trio arose Jim laughed lightly, and asked them "how they liked it as far as as they had got," picked up the bat he had taken from Mose and called out, "Come on, boys, let's have a game of ball."

The combat ended so quickly that Alice had no chance to interfere, but she felt that it would not do to let this open violation of school rules pass unpunished, so she rang the bell. When pupils were assembled she called the culprits up to the desk, and asked what the fight was about and who began it. The Bradleys stood sullen and silent, but Jim answered, "I would rather not tell what it was about, but I began it by knocking Mose Bradley down." Alice knew the fight was the result of Jim's espousal of her cause in the reading class, and her voice faltered as she said: "Then I shall have to punish you; hold out your hand."

Jim obeyed her instantly. She took up the ruler with a trembling hand and began the punishment. Jim's face never changed a muscle. The look upon it was obedience in which there was no trace of either bravado or sullenness. As Alice inflicted the blows on the hand so quietly held out to her, the thought rushed upon her mind that she was smiting the only hand that had been raised to befriend her in that lawless region.

Her face grew pale, the blows fell falteringly, the tears began to run down her cheeks, the ruler fell from her hand, she sank into her seat, buried her face into her hands, and burst into a storm of sobs.

Then Jim's countenance changed. His lips quivered, he dashed his hand across his eyes to clear them of unnatural dimness, and the great lump in his throat seemed to choke him. A chuckle from Mose Bradley recalled his self-possession, however, and he took a step or two toward the latter with eyes that fairly blazed with hot indignation.

Mose rapidly retreated a step or two, and his chuckle died an untimely death, and for a full minute silence reigned over the school room. At last Alice raised her head and in a broken voice dismissed the pupils to the play ground.

As the children passed out she heard some say, "So you've got a whipping after all, Jim," and Jim's reply, "Yes, and I've got enough to pass some of it around if anybody is anxious about it."

At 1 o'clock Alice rang the bell with a feeling of utter despair; but no school ever moved more smoothly than did her school that afternoon. Quiet obedience, study, good lessons, and respectful attention were universal. But Alice had determined to quit the school; she felt as if she would rather be the poorest washerwoman than to be badgered, bullied, and tortured for months at a time by a set of brutal ruffians, whose parents employed her for the sole purpose of enduring this martyrdom.

So when Alice locked the school house door that evening it was with a mingled feeling of humiliation that she started to offer her resignation to the directors. As she left the school house she saw Jim Turner a few yards ahead of her walking rapidly toward home. She called his name, and he respectfully waited until she had overtaken him. "Mr. Turner," she said, "I'm going away in the morning, and I wish to thank you for your brave defense of me at the school to-day, and to ask your forgiveness for the punishment so unjustly inflicted on you," and in her earnestness Alice held out her trembling little hand, and Jim instantly grasped it.

"I have nothing to forgive," said he; "you could not do otherwise and neither could I; but you are surely not intending to quit the school?"

"Yes," answered Alice, "I would rather die than pass through three months of such scenes as I have to-day."

"But you will have no more trouble; there is no one in the school that would be at all likely to give you trouble, except the Bradley boys, and as long as I am there I will answer for their good behavior.

At last Jim's eloquence prevailed, and Alice finally consented to teach a week longer, and at the end of that time she decided to stay, for never did a school move along more smoothly. At her request Jim was allowed to remain during the term, and as soon as it closed he went to college.

Alice taught the Bear creek school successfully for three years, but in the end Uncle Zeke's prediction was verified, for Jim Turner came back and broke up the school.

He married the teacher.

A peculiarity of Washington is the exellent manner in which the streets are kept. No city on this continent approaches it in this respect; perhaps no city in Europe, not even excepting Paris, excels it. It has 175 miles of paved streets, more than one-third of which is of concrete—asphalt and coal tar; thirty miles of gravel, and the remaining seventy miles of stone block, rough stone, macadam and wood.

How to Enjoy Good Health.

Nature is very much like a shiftless child, who, the more he is helped, the more he looks for it. The more medicine a man takes the more he will have to take, whether it be anodyne tonic or alterative.

The thinnest veil or silk handkerchief thrown over the face while riding or walking against a cold wind is a remarkably comfortably protection.

Never sit or stand with the wind blowing on you for a single moment, for it speedily produces a chill, to be followed with a fever and then a bad cold.

Exercise to the extent of great fatige does more harm than good.

A hearty meal taken while excessively fatigued has often destroyed life.

Chiliness of body dampens the spirits, sours the temper and renders the whole man unlovely.

Cleanliness in all the surroundings of a family mansion pays richly in many ways, in good health, moral elevation, personal comfort and dollars and cents besides.

Life is warmth, growth, repair and power to labor, and all these are derived from the food we eat and the fluids we drink, and these should be good.

At every period of life, at all seasons of the year, and from the tropics to the poles, in every clime and country, the temperature of the human body in health is the same to a degree, that is, ninety-eight of Fahrenheit; hence we should eat in winter mainly of warming food, such as meats, fat, oils, sugar and all the grains, farinas, starches; in summer, the fruits and berries and melons and vegetables of the field, the garden and the orchard, which cool and open and ventilate the system.

Nine-tenths of the inmates of insane asylums who recover are those who are sent within a year after the first manifestation of their infirmity.

The best anodyne in all nature is moderate, steady and continuous exercise in the open air.

The worst cold may be promptly cured if, within twenty-four hours after it has been taken, the patient will keep warm in bed and eat little or nothing for a day or two.

In going out into a colder air, keep the mouth resolutely closed, and walk briskly for a few minutes, thus preventing chiliness, which is always the precursor of a cold.

The portion of the body which most requires protection against cold and wind is that between the shoulder-blades behind, as it is at this point the lungs are attached to the body, and the blood is easily chilled.

To spend two or three moments on rising and retiring, in rapid frictions of the whole surface of the body with the hands is a more rational treatment of the skin, and a more health-promoting operation, than a daily cold-water bath.

A good cleansing of the entire body with soap and warm water once a week is all the bathing the human system requires of health, in ordinary circumstances. — Hall's Journal of Health.

The rabbit is probably the most productive of the whole rodent genus; a single pair may be answerable for a population of half a million within five years. Originally natives of Spain, the rabbits once multiplied in that country, as well as in some of the islands of the Mediterranean, in such an alarming manner that the people appealed for military aid to assist in their destruction. And it was not until numbers of ferrets and weasels were introduced that the rabbit population began to diminish. The quadrupeds of Australia are chiefly of the "marsupial" order; and from the great kangaroo down to the wombat and kangaroo rat (both burrowers) nearly all of the tribe are herbivorous. The dingo, or native dog, is destructive only to sheep, while the wildcat, though pretty common in some parts, is not generally prevalent. When, therfore, the rabbit was first landed in Australia the land was all before him where to choose. In the official Sydney market rate for January, 1873, the price of rabbits was quoted from 2s. 6d. to 4s, each, retail. Five or six years later they were looked upon as aggressive and destructive vermin, and had so rapidly overrun large tracts of land as to become quite a scare to the squatters. To-day every phase of the Australian rabbit plague is not only regarded as of vital interest by the colonists, but a subject of curiosity and discussion throughout the civilized world.

A NICE CAKE.—A delicious cake for layer cake is made by taking two whole eggs and the white of the third egg; beat the whites and one large cup of sugar until light, then add half a cup of butter and beat all until light, then put in half a teaspoonful of sweet milk. Put the baking powder with the flour, in about the proportion of two cups of flour. Stir this in a little at a time, and give it all a good beating before putting it in the tins; flavor to suit yourself. It is a good plan when making nice cake to bake a little bit of the dough in a patty-pan before trusting the rest of it in the oven; then you can see if it needs any attention. Sometimes the flour and sugar vary in thickening qualities, and exact results cannot be obtained without this precaution. If the cake is too light add a little flour, carefully sifted in. If it is tough a little milk and a trifle of shortening may be added.

Prison Statistics.

The figures and facts of the fifty-fourth annual report of the Eastern Penitentiary are worthy of study. The report gives the statistics of the year 1883 and the condition of the institution on the first day of the current year. The receptions during the year numbered 490, or 73 more than during 1882, an increase largely in excess, proportionately, of the increase of the population whose convicts are there lodged. This is an indication either that a large number of the graver crimes were committed, or that because of greater watchfulness on the part of the officers of the law a larger number of convictions were secured.

There were 1076 prisoners in the institution on the 1st of the year. Of the 490 admitted during the year, Philadelphia furnished 306, Lackawanna 16, York 14, Cumberland 13, Lycoming and Luzerne 12 each, and Lebanon 10, while 26 were sent from the United States district court. This note is not a bad showing for our county, which has a much larger population than any of the others named, except Philadelphia—almost equal to any two of them, in fact. York with its 88,000 and Cumberland with its 46,000 are almost exclusively agricultural counties and these are generally supposed to afford a much smaller percentage of criminals than counties wherein the people are mainly dependent upon mining and manufacturing. Lackawanna furnishes a goodly share for one so young.

Philadelphia was the birthlace of 163 of the 490 received; Germany, of 36; Ireland of 28, and England of 11. These figures do not seem to warrant the frequent plea that our criminal classes are drawn almost exclusively from our alien population, and it will be a surprise to some to learn that the Fatherland was more numerously represented in the total than Erin, and, that, while we have many times more Irish than English emigrants, Johnny Bull has nearly half as many convicts as the land of the shamrock.

Of the 490, not far from half, or 202, had been previously imprisoned, one fifteen times, one ten times, one eight times, two seven times, five six times, and eight five times.

Here is the plainest evidence that our prisons are yet far from being reformatory institutions. It is not by any means certain that any prisons can be. So long, however, as nearly half of those who are once sent there are liable to go back, there is room for belief that there is a wide margin for improvement in our system of managing convicts. This subject has engaged the attention of many thoughtful men, and much has been written upon it. There are two schools of prison reformers, one of whom advocate the individual method of treatment and the other what is known as herding. The former is believed to have been original in Pennsylvania, it being alleged that it was only accepted in Europe after France, England and Prussia had sent commissioners to Philadelphia to examine into the workings of the Eastern Penitentiary. Hon Richard Vaux, president of the board of managers, who has occupied the position for many years, is a strong believer in the effectiveness of the separate system.

One other matter alluded to in the report will evoke surprise. Of the 490 only five were rated as intemperate, while 101 were total abstainers, the balance belonging to the moderate drinker's phalanx. These figures will not be welcomed by those hot headed reformers who argue at hap hazard that practically all crime is directly traceable to drunkeness. The fact is that many of the more serious orders of crime are such as to require cool heads and steady hands, to which an excessive use of stimulants would not conduce. Profesional forgers counterfeiters, burglars and cracksmen of all sorts are nowadays more devoted to the doctrine of total abstinence than many of those who profess and preach it in eloquent periods from the stump.—Wilkes-Barre Union Leader.

Taking a Bite of Whiskey.

A WAY INVENTED OF MAKING IT IN SOLID PLUGS LIKE TOBACCO.

M. G. Peterman is a German farmer of Pittsburg suburbs, who has made a wonderful invention—a new method that will revolutionize modern whiskey distilling. He has discovered a way of making solidified whiskey making it into pocket plugs, just like tobacco. Besides that he says he can also distil it in liquid form so that it will be the exact equivalent of two and three-year-old whiskey, when it comes out of the still. Last month persons from New York offered him $100,000 for his invention, and he came within an ace of selling it to them, under the impression that they were to make and sell only in that State, but discovering that they were trying to secure it from him for all the States he dismissed the offer. A man can carry a plug of whiskey in his pocket, and when thirsty can pull it out, dissolve a chip of it in a tumbler of water, or else take a "chew," as he would of tobacco. It would be especially valuable over the present liquid, as it would save leakage. During battles the whiskey carried by armies for medicine or stimulants has been lost at the time when needed most by the barrels or vessels being riddled by bullets. The boxes containing solid whiskey might be shattered, but during or after the battle the cakes could easily be gathered up uninjured Even if the article were never manufactured at all, Peterman's invention is valuable in the wonderful improvement it makes in the distilling of liquid whiskey. In a very short time he expects to be ready to show the world the value of all his inventions. Nearly all the machinery is patented, but the article itself is not now, but soon will be, patented. Peterman has made his models entirely with penknife, rounded the boilers and stills, curved the pipes—and hollowed them out inside. He has a complete working distillery in miniature embodying his inventions, and all of it made, little by little, with a penknife in the midnight hours after days of hard farm labor. So original are his ideas on the subject, and so complicated the devices, that no tinner or machinist in Pittsburg would undertake to make him a model; hence he had to do it himself. It required months of patient toil.

Their Good Luck.

It is astonishing how many of our successful business men attribute their good fortune neither to luck nor general excellence of Judgment, but will tell you how a strict adherence to some single rule has done it all for them. Commodore Vanderbilt's receipt for making millions with certainty and celerity was to never sign a note; Wm. E. Dodge would not hold any pecuniary interest in an enterprise that was at all active on Sunday, and he finally believed that his wealth was a reward for conscientiously observing she Sabbath day; the first John Jacob Astor's voudoo charm lay in investing nothing aside from his regular business except in real estate; and Alexander T. Stewart would have anticipated his fortune if he had wantonly broken the smallest engagement.

Men of success can afford to practice their theories, and even become slaves to them. Men of failure cannot indulge such luxuries of conduct.

PINEAPPLE ICE.—Pineapple ice to be served with delicate cake can be made of one ripe and juicy pineapple, or one quart can of the fruit; cut it in very small pieces; add the juice and grated peel of one lemon or orange, as your taste dictates; one good full pint of sugar and one of water, or possibly a very little less if the fruit is juicy. Scatter the sugar over the pineapple, and let it stand for an hour, then drain off all juice, then mash the fruit and strain again until you are sure you have secured all the juice, then add water and freeze.

The steamship "State of Florida" which left New York Saturday, April 12th, bound for Glasgow, was sunk by the steamer "Titania," en route from Glasgow to Montreal, on Friday, April 18th, at about 10 o'clock in the evening, on a clear night and a calm sea. Out of 135 persons 44 were saved. The vessel "Titania" crashed into the side of the "State of Florida," and both sank within fifteen minutes. The 44 persons saved were in one boat and had been drifting two days before they were picked up.

Don Cameron is on his way home in the steamship Gallia, which sailed from Queenstown on Sunday.

Two new tariff bills were introduced in Congress on Monday, one by Mr. Hewitt of New York, and the other by Mr. O'Neill of Missouri. It is not likely that either bill will reach a final vote.

Butler B. Strang committed suicide at his home in Tioga county, by shooting himself through the head, last Saturday. His wife and son were present when the deed was done, and had no intimation of what he was about to do. Ill health and consequent great bodily suffering are the only reasons to which the act was attributable.

Mr. Strang was a prominent man in the republican party. He was a member of the legislature for several years, and was speaker of the senate in 1874. He was a man of considerable ability and had warm friends all over the state.

National Guard Encampment.

Major General Hartranft has selected the site for the location of the encampment of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, August 2d to 9th, upon the Gettysburg battle-field. He has chosen a large field of 200 acres, about a mile south of the town, and on the Emmettsburg pike, and upon which the rebels concentrated in a three-days' fight, when Pender's and Anderson's divisions made their terrible onslaught upon the Union troops' centre. Within a short distance of the spot picked out for the Major General's headquarters was located that of General Lee, and immediately in the rear of the encampment was the spot from which General Meade directed the movements of his command. There will be a parade ground sufficiently large to accommodate the entire division.

Ex-Governor Curtin's Views.

In response to a reporter in New York the other day ex-Governor Curtin said:

"I think, that there is now a much better and quieter feeling among the Democrats in the House than there was immediately after we defeated the Morrison bill. There is a disposition now to let things alone, and go ahead fighting a common enemy on some other ground.

"It brings a sort of settled condition of things. The folly of keeping the business of the country all the time in a fret and turmoil and state of uncertainty has been disposed of, and now the party should confine itself to the national differences between us and the Republicans, and leave this tariff fight to be adjusted locally inside the party lines."

"Then you do not anticipate any revenue reform plank at Chicago?"

"No, I can't imagine that the party will deliberately reopen a wound that has healed. It would be a very suicidal policy. Of course, with that sort of a plank we would be swamped in Pennsylvania, and they can't afford to do that."

"Could you carry the State without any plank proposing tariff reductions?"

"We would have a fighting chance, I believe."

Too Much Married.

A man has recently been arrested in Toledo for abducting a young girl and marrying her. He was employed as coachman for the father of the girl, and lived in the stable with a woman he called his wife. Since his arrest it has been learned that in twenty-three years he has married no less than eight different women. The defendant makes the following remarkable statement:

I am Sir Arthur Roger Tichborne, and was borne 41 years ago near Oxford, England. He entered Oxford, graduated with all the honors the university could bestow, and then entered the British Army as an ensign. While in India, he formed the acquaintance of the celebrated Tichborne claimant. Together they were cashiered from the army. This led to his being disgraced at home. A quarrel followed. He separated from his friend, and came to this country. Together they traveled all over the world. His friend at last, believing him to be dead, set up as the claimant.

The famous claimant had gleaned all the family secrets from him while they where together in the army. He means to become an American citizen and get the country to back him. He says he has witnesses in China, Australia and India, beside papers to prove his identity.

CENTRALIA NOTES.

In taking the train at Rupert for Shenandoah in order to reach Centralia, it is very much like going round by Boston to get to New York. It, however, compensates the traveller for its circuitousness by the varied and picturesque scenery he passes through—whirling over bridges and trestlings—in and around among mountains and valleys as beautiful as any to be found in Central Pennsylvania.

Arriving in the thrifty borough of Centralia, one is struck with the contrast it presents with other Columbia county towns, in that it presents the peculiarly characteristic appearance so generally found in the coal producing centers. We learn that its population is estimated at nearly three thousand persons, most of whom depend directly or indirectly on mining for subsistence.

As a whole-souled, good-natured people, ready to show a hearty hospitality to a stranger, commend us to the genial citizens of this place. Among the many prominent citizens it was our good fortune to meet, we desire to mention Hon. William Bryson, C. G. Murphy, Irvin Brothers, G. W. Davis, J. T. Midlington, J. P. Riley, John F. Kress, Dr. Gwinner, O. B. Millard, D. C. Black, Ed. Hughes, P. Flynn, David Welsh, Harry Ferguson, J. J. Laughlin, Capt. Ted Reese and D. Curry. These are representative men in professional mercantile and industrial pursuits.

Some people are apt to think and speak of mining towns as lacking among its people that intelligence which it is so agreeable to be able to boast of in any respectable community; well, he who expects to find a bigger average of ignorance in Centralia than other parts of the county, will be awfully fooled in that respect. Its citizens are bright, wide awake, reading men, and one of the most evident proofs is shown in the fact that their public schools are equal in equipment and intelligent administration to any in the county. The school houses are large, new and commodious buildings, neatly furnished and supplied with first-class appointments in the way of reference books, maps, charts, &c. We were particularly struck with the marked discipline of the scholars and have never seen better order maintained in any school. The credit for the consummation of such a desirable state of affairs is due to the fact that the school directors are men who appreciate the importance of their positions, and to the efficiency of the teachers. Messrs. Heffron, Curry, Curran, and Hannon are all gentlemen of culture and show a laudable ambition in the prosecution of their work in which they are assisted by a large corps of well-qualified lady teachers.

There are quite a number of first-class business houses, but we cannot now speak of them in detail, but must say a few words about the store of Lewis A. Riley & Co., connected with the Logan and other collieries. This splendid building excels anything of the kind in the county for its perfection in construction and general arrangements. The company employ over one thousand men, and up till the present time work has been at least as regular with them as others, and prospects for better times are indicated. There seems to be amicable relations between the company and their employees, and we noticed several very commendable features in this connection. The accidental insurance system, for instance, is a very wise one and has proved successful; then we were pleased to notice that the arbitrary custom of deducting so much from each man's wages per month for medical attendance, and then dictating who the medical attendant shall be, is not adopted here. We may have more to say about this corporation in future contributions.

We should not be truthful if we did not say a word of condemnation to the present saloon system. There are altogether too many unlicensed places of this kind. Saloons may be a necessity, but they are always better conducted when regulated by men who have something to lose, than when conducted in an illegitimate way. It is said, however, considerable improvement has been shown in the suppression of the Sunday beer and whiskey traffic during the past year or more. We would suggest as one of the most desirable things which the good citizens of Centralia could do would be to erect a building for the use of the young men in the town, where they could spend their evenings and leisure time in reading good sensible literature, or indulge themselves in games of checkers and such like amusements. At not much cost such a building could be erected and could be so constructed as to afford a good public room for entertainments and meetings. We were informed that the company have offered to furnish the ground and to subscribe liberally towards the project, and if the leading citizens will only set the ball rolling, it will be a sure thing—certainly few men who have the good of the town and the younger portion of the people at heart, would hesitate to give them an opportunity of forming better habits than are usually acquired on the street corners or in saloons.

During our visit in the mining districts we heard many expressions of dissatisfaction at the present rate of importing Hungarian and other cheap labor, and we very much fear that if the evil is not suppressed or modified there will be trouble. It does not seem fair that men who strive to raise their families respectably and according to the pre-conceived idea of the American laborer being worthy of his line, should be hustled on one side to make room for men whose animal instincts is the limit of their intelligence and who apparently work with about as much appreciation of the dignity of labor as doth the beast of burden. It would not need a very wise man to predict that some of these fine days there will be serious friction between the races.

Centralia.

James Curran, who has spent the past eight months in Florida, returned home last week, and speaks in glowing terms of the sunny South. He intends making it his future home.

The Logan colliery worked on Thursday to empty the loaded mine wagons for Monday morning.

The Citizens' Band paraded the principal streets on Saturday evening, and discoursed some very fine music. There is lots of music in the boys, and Prof. Wise is an excellent teacher.

Licenses were granted to all who applied, and every one seems happy. This is as it should be, for the same amount of kill-a-mile would be consumed if there were no licenses granted. Our saloon keepers intend to appreciate the Judge's kindness, and will strictly observe the Sabbath.

John Dugan, of town, had his hand hurt in the new slope at Big Mine Run on Friday, by a rail falling on it.

John Nertney, the enterprising beer agent for Kaier, has put a brand new wagon on the road this week.

What queer things you hear, when you haven't got a gun! "Bunty" Gallagher told us a few evenings since that he could eat, for a wager, more duck eggs than any one in town. We hardly think any person will be foolish enough to accept the offer, as he has a mania for eggs since he became a member of the band—good for the wind you know.

One of the firemen at Morris Ridge had a sum of money stolen from him while at work on Saturday, by some one employed at the colliery.

A series of entertainments will be given by the scholars of the High School commencing Monday evening, the 26th inst., in the old school building. As the price of admission will be moderate and the proceeds will be used to decorate the school rooms, they should have full houses.

Quite a number of our young men are about organizing a Literary Society. We hope it will be a success.

John Lavelle and Miss Ella Barrett were married by Rev. E. T. Field on Wednesday evening. After the ceremony they repaired to the home of the bride, where a bountiful repast was partaken of; after which dancing was indulged in till a late—or rather, early hour.

The Grand Jury ignored the charge against James McFadden last week. The particulars of this affair were given in a previous issue of the COLUMBIAN. Jim's many friends were glad to hear of his acquittal.

The neighbors and friends of Wendell Young tendered him a pleasant surprise on Wednesday evening in honor of his fifty-eighth anniversary. Those who were present say it was a very enjoyable affair, and that Mr. Young may live to celebrate many more birthdays, is the wish of all.

Thos. Reese, son of Supt. Ed. Reese, has been appointed Coal Inspector at Centralia colliery.

M. W. Brennan served on the Grand Jury last week.

Miss Sarah Haffy of Philadelphia, is home with her parents for a few weeks.

The residents of Park street should repair their pavements, as they are in a very dilapidated condition. A young lady returning from church on Sunday evening got her foot caught in one of them, and was slightly hurt.

The locomotive at the Continental colliery is now being used on the dirt bank, as the distance is too great for the mules to keep the dirt out.

George Maley is fitting up his saloon, and will be able to sling beer to his customers again on Saturday.

On Tuesday morning the early train had the Hungarian car attached, with over thirty Huns, in it, for Mt. Carmel and Shamokin.

Cro(w)cuses.

The screech of the stately rooster, the bright face of the early spring flower, both help our little story. Do we crow? Yes. Do we bloom? Yes. Crow because we bloom, and bloom because we crow. Oak Hall blooms out with a stock that makes the old counters groan, and the old walls burst, and the older salesmen wonder, and the woolen dealers wink. And we do crow because it has been bought cheaply and made well. And it is to be sold quickly because cheap. Four great varieties in Spring Suit Stock—Men's, Youths', Large Boys', Small Boys', and between these several lines there are over four hundred sorts. They go from $7.50 to $30.00 for Men's, from $7 00 to $25.00 for Youths', $5.00 to $18.00 for Large Boys', from $3.00 to $12.00 for Small Boys'. Variety enough, eh!

A Spring Opening.

We have none. No chance for it. If we would keep our choice things put away until a given time, and then offer them to the public all at once, we should be foiled, for people come in the winter when the frost is in the air, and snow and ice hold the earth in bondage, while our preparations are just forming for the spring campaign, and demand the new goods. It would be ungracious to refuse; and so, perforce, we cannot have a Spring Opening. But we can open with a spring, and as we write, while hardly a bursting bud is to be seen upon the trees, the spring trade is springing on us with a refreshing rush. Times dull, you say? Not to the bold dealer that takes no counsel of fear. And Oak Hall is just such. Already the opening spring tells of abundant sales just ahead.

Early Pinks.

The sort that we cultivate at Oak Hall are well-dressed young men. In pursuit of our great mission of making young men as charming as early pinks, we have arranged a set of sizes denominated "Young Gents" which cover the larger youths' and smaller men's sizes. Special patterns were prepared for this class of stock, and into it we introduce all possible style of cut, material and make. The prices range from $7 50 to $25.00. Elsewhere in our stock are choice materials beautifully made, but nowhere else in Oak Hall is there such a concentration of superiority. The generation of men for whom these goods were made cannot recall the time when there was no Oak Hall in Philadelphia. And yet there is no proof of the perennial youth of Oak Hall equal to that which is found in this particular stock.

The Sacred Elephant

Is the sensation of the hour. Have you seen him? No! Do you propose to see him? Yes! Well, then, when you get him off your mind, give us a chance for a quiet word with you about your spring clothes.

They should be bought at Oak Hall. Like us or dislike us, as you may please, you ought to find in our great acres and cords of good clothing just the sorts to suit you in body, brain, and pocket.

The reasons why are few and simple. Oak Hall is the plucky clothing house. While others have been letting "I dare not, wait upon I would" we have been picking up great lines of desirable goods and putting them into the best clothing, which under existing conditions has cost us less than ever. Result, bargains for you.

Notice to Correspondents.

In order to save many communications from the waste basket we make the following suggestions to local correspondents: Use only one side of the sheet, and write as plain as possible; give only the local news that is of some interest to the community, such as accidents, improvements, marriages, deaths, matter relating to schools and churches, business enterprises, changes of residence, and the like. What appear to be jokes at the expense of others, and personal mention giving only one name or initials or a nickname, will not be printed under any circumstances. Such items often give offense, though none may be intended. The full name of the writer must always be given, but will not be printed unless requested. tf

The great demand for space in our advertising columns compels us to issue a quarter-sheet supplement for the next four weeks, containing the Mercantile Appraisement List and the statement of Conyngham and Centralia Poor District. Since January 1st we have issued seven supplements, and shall continue to print them when our reading matter is crowded. The COLUMBIAN is the only paper in the county that does this.

We regret to have to curtail our report of the marriage of Miss L. Baucher to Mr. Sterling W. Dickson of Berwick, which took place on Wednesday evening in the Methodist church of that place. The church was thronged by friends of the interesting couple, the altar decorations by Mr. Hoft were perfect and the ceremony performed by the Rev. Dickson was very impressive. There are few of our young people who will have more hearty wishes for prosperity and happiness than Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Dickson.

At a special meeting of the Shenandoah School Board, held on Tuesday evening, May 6, the following resolution was unanimously passed:

Resolved, That it is with deep regret that we receive the declination of Professor G. W. Bartch to be a candidate for re-election as Superintendent of the Public Schools of Shenandoah; that we recognize the fact that during his ten years of service in Shenandoah he has greatly advanced the educational interests of this school district, and that in Prof. Bartch we have found a gentleman of sterling integrity and of high educational ability.

Prof. Bartch has moved his family to Light Street, which will be his home for some time.

The Sheriff acknowledged the following deeds in court on Wednesday:

To C. B. Brockway for lot of land in Catawissa township, for 25.00, sold as the property of Ferdinand Galf.

To Silas Conner for Orangeville Academy, for $1055.00.

To W. F. Souder for lot of land in Espy, for $670, sold as the property of W. F. and E. W. Souders.

To E. P. Albertson and J. M. Larish for land in Sugarloaf, for $486, sold as property of C. Larish.

To W. Hess in trust, for land in Centre, for $100, sold as the property of Samuel Neyhard.

To L. B. Holloway for land in Centralia for $410, sold as the property of A. D. Gable.

Dennis S. Doyle writes us to correct a statement made last week concerning the manner of Richard Colihan's death in the Continental colliery at Centralia. He says the supports did not give out, but that "the collar was raised up three feet at one end with a block of timber to hold it there, until the miners and laborers went to shove the car in again, expecting to have the collar standing for a good lift with one end three feet off the bottom, but instead they found the poor fellow's head fast under the collar, as the deceased persisted in creeping under the raised end when he might have stepped over or gone round it." We know nothing of the facts, and give this statement as we got it.

THE NEW ORLEANS MINSTRELS.—Gorton's original New Orleans Minstrels performed in the Opera House last evening to a delighted audience. The house was a good one, although not packed, and that the performance was appreciated was evident by the continual laughter. The overture was good, the songs and jokes new. Mr. Walter Wentworth gave the most wonderful exhibition of contortion ever seen in Carlisle, performing with apparent ease seemingly impossible feats. The military clog was very fine, as were also the special clog dances of the Gorman brothers. The comic pantomime was immense, the audience fairly screaming with laughter. The entertainment all through is first-class, and should be greeted with crowded houses everywhere they go.—Carlisle Herald.

Opera House, Bloomsburg, Saturday May 17th.

As will be seen by the proceedings of the town council concerning the park, Mr. Waller has agreed that he will take the land, provided the majority of the tax payers are willing to sell it. Mr. Rabb made a motion asking for the appointment of a committee to ascertain the feeling of the people on this matter. The motion was lost, but for what reason we do not know. It is certain that the park has been a burden to the town ever since its purchase, over $1200 having been paid as interest, while the receipts from it have been very small. When the town gets so large that a park is needed, an open field containing an acre or two of ground will scarcely be large enough. The town is now in debt and provision has been made for the sale of bonds to the amount of $5000. Why not raise $2000 of this by the sale of the park? At all events, there ought to be no objection to making an effort to ascertain the sentiment of the people on the question.

The 15th annual convention of the Columbia county S. S. Association will be held at Mifflinville on May 27th and 28th. An interesting programme has been arranged. Columbia is the second county in the State, in Sunday School attendance. Let every school be represented. Bring Gospel Hymns, Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4. All Sunday schools represented are expected to take a collection and send it by their delegates to defray the expenses of the convention, and to pay the amount apportioned to our County, $10.00, toward the support of the State Association. Entertainment free. Bring reference Bible and scratch book, and be ready to take part in the discussions. Five trains each way pass Mifflinville daily. All delegates expecting entertainment while at the convention should send their names to Rev. W. D. Donat, Mifflinville, as soon as they are appointed.

Council Proceedings.

May 8th.

Regular meeting of council called at half past seven o'clock. All members present.

On motion of Mr. Hagenbuch and seconded by Mr. Sharpless the list of exonerations claimed by Newton Boone Collector, was laid over until the next meeting.

On motion of Mr. Hagenbuch and seconded by Mr. Sterling the President appointed Mr. Rabb to act in connection with the Town Engineer and himself as a committee to investigate the matter with reference to claims for sewer pipe.

On motion of Mr. Hagenbuch and seconded by Mr. Sterling the bill of Daniel Hall for work at sewer was laid over for correction.

Mr. Rupert in behalf of committee on sale of Park reported that he had seen D. J. Waller who said that he is willing to take the Park back provided the majority of the tax payers, citizens and business men are willing to sell the same; but that he would like to have a little time for consideration. On motion of Mr. Hagenbuch and seconded by Mr. Moyer the report was accepted and the committee discharged.

A petition was read signed by a number of citizens asking that a lamp post be placed midway between East street and the Normal School grounds on Second street. Mr. Rabb moved that the request of the petitioners be granted and that a lamp post be located on the North side of the street at the intersections of Rose alley and Second street. It was unanimously agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Sterling it was ordered that the lamp post at the intersection of East street and Second street be moved and placed on the South side of Second St., near the pump.

A petition was presented to council signed by a number of citizens of Penn street and vicinity asking for a crossing on line of Second street near Normal School grounds. On motion of Mr. Hagenbuch and seconded by Mr. Sharpless it was ordered that a double stone crossing be placed across Penn street on the line of the Southern part of Second street. A petition was read asking for a crossing at the intersection of East street and the alley by G. M. & J. K. Lockard's car shops on East street.

A petition was read asking for a stone crossing at the intersection of East and Seventh streets on the East side of East street. Mr. Moyer moved that the Street Commissioner and President of Council act as a committee to examine the matter with reference to said crossing which was agreed to.

On motion the following resolution was unanimously passed, to-wit:

WHEREAS, Complaint having been made by a number of citizens of the Town of Bloomsburg of the bad condition of the side walk in front of the car shops on East street, therefore be it.

Resolved, That G. M. & J. K. Lockard be required to grade and pave their side walk in front of the car shops within sixty days from notice thereof, and in case of neglect or refusal to do so the Commissioner of highways shall at once cause the same to be done, and the cost of the same, with twenty per centum added thereto shall be charged against and collected from the said owners thus neglecting or failing.

A communication was read from Col. Ent Post G. A. R., asking Council to assist in the memorial service May, 30th 1884 at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Moyer moved and Mr. Hagenbuch seconded the motion that the President appoint a committee of three to locate a fire plug on corner of West and First St., which was agreed to. The President appointed Messrs. Moyer, Rabb and Hagenbuch.

On motion of Mr. Rabb the Secretary of Council was directed to make out a copy of the assessments and ascertain the taxes according to act of Assembly relative to assessments on "built up," "Suburban" and "Farm Land" of said town, and the classification with reference to the division thereof to be the same as last year.

On motion D. R. Coffman was appointed to serve notices of appeal on the several tax-payers in the Town of Bloomsburg.

On motion the time for holding appeal was fixed at one o'clock in the afternoon of June 7th 1884.

On motion the President appointed Messrs. Jones, Hagenbuch and Moyer, in connection with the Town Surveyor to act as a committee to fix the curb line and the line of pavement on West street between First and Third streets.

On motion of Mr. Hagenbuch, C. R. Housel the former Street Commissioner, was requested to meet Council and explain bill for services in April 1884.

Mr. Rabb moved and Mr. Sterling seconded the motion that the President of Council appoint a committee of four to take papers and get signers asking that the Town Park be sold to D. J. Waller. The yeas and nays were ordered and resulted as follows: Yeas, Messrs. Rabb, Sterling and Hagenbuch, 3; Nays, Messrs. Jones, Moyer, Sharpless and Rupert, 4.

Mr. Sharpless moved that the Secretary of Council be authorized to advertise for the sale of Town Bonds at 4½ per cent. to the amount of five thousand dollars. Seconded by Mr. Moyer. The yeas and nays being called, resulted:

Yeas.—Sharpless, Moyer, Hagenbuch, Jones and Rupert, 5; Nays, Rabb and Sterling, 2.

On motion the following bills were passed and Secretary instructed to draw orders for the same:

Reward.

I will pay a reward of $150 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who broke in my woolen mill on Tuesday night, May 13th. C. L. SANDS,
Mordansville, Pa.

Berwick.

George Vannatta has contracted for 150 acres of fine timber land on the Kisner estate two miles north of Berwick, and will begin operations thereon at once. George is an expert lumberman, and will doubtless make it a success.

Squire Jacoby looks quite natural in his new quarters, and is ready to do all kinds of business relating to the office of Justice of the Peace, collections, &c.

Will Petty has returned for a vacation from his studies at the Long Island Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y. He is looking well and has made good use of his time during his two terms of medical study at the above institution.

One of the best and most agreeable improvements made in town this spring is the removal of the old and unsightly barn on the lot of Mr. J. Hoft, the construction of a neat fence and the laying out of the grounds for gardening purposes.

Mr. Ira Dietrick is taking temporary charge of the Reading Room.

A first-rate game of base ball was played on Saturday last between the Danville and Berwick clubs, resulting in a victory for the former. On Monday the Berwick club visited Plymouth and played with the club of that place, losing by a score of 7 to 8.

The closing exercises of the public schools were held in Association Hall on Tuesday evening, and consisted of music, gymnastic exercises, literary productions and a drama, "Out on the Streets." The whole affair was a complete success, and reflected credit alike on teachers and scholars.

By the by, the lady teachers from Bloomsburg who have officiated in their several capacities in our schools this term, have each been very successful in their work, and have made many warm friends during their residence here.

A great number of people went to see the elephant—white or otherwise—at Wilkes Barre on Tuesday last. They report a pleasant time.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lauer sympathize sincerely with them in the bereavement they have sustained in the loss of their seven year old son, who died on Tuesday from spinal meningitis.

The Fair directors are to meet this Thursday evening to determine the date of holding the fair and making other arrangements of importance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Scott have left town to take up their residence for the summer at Powder Glen, Luzerne county. We hope they will return in the fall.

Mr. F. R. Jackson drove his fine team to Bloomsburg on Monday last. There is no finer team in the county. One is "Lady Amsbry" sired by "Volunteer," and the other "Sheriff" sired by the celebrated stallion "Daniel Lambert." They are well matched, and Frank is justly proud of them.

A band of street musicians of more than average ability, passed through town on Tuesday. Two violins and a harp made delightful music, and pleased the youngsters who stayed away from the more attractive exhibition of Barnum.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Jackson, Mrs. Lizzie Jackson, Mrs. F. R. Jackson, Mrs. B. F. Crispin and Miss Helen Jamison are all in attendance at the M. E. conference in Philadelphia.

Our enterprising hardware man, C. W. Brubaker, is selling a large amount of building material to customers in the surrounding country.

MARRIAGES.

INSTRUCTIVE READING.

Some of the testimonials from different people relative to Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and the relief it has given them when distressed by headache, earache, and toothache are as interesting reading as you will find. This being a standard medicine, is sold everywhere by druggists.

TELLS THE TRUTH.

"This medicine I can highly recommend. Burdock Blood Bitters are the best blood purifier we have ever used." Chas. A. Burt, 15 Court St., Buffalo, N. Y.

WILL WONDERS EVER CEASE?

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 9, 1883.

Mr. Phelps, Dear Sir—I consider it my duty to tell you how much good your Rheumatic Elixir has done me. For ten years I had Rheumatism in my left arm and last year it extended through my whole body and limbs. I could hardly turn in bed, and several days I could neither feed myself nor walk without sticks. I took everything that I could hear of, but got no better, and I began to get discouraged. Mr. Good, the druggist, advised me take Phelp's Rheumatic Elixir. I did so, and after having taken the first bottle I felt satisfied that it was helping me. When I had taken three bottles I was entirely cured. I feel very grateful for what your medicine has done for me. I will cheerfully recommend it to those afflicted with Rheumatism. You can use my name as you wish in behalf of your Elixir.

Yours, with many thanks,
CHAS. H. KNIFFEN,
No. 14 Magnolia Avenue, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Mahanoy City, Pa., Sept. 8, 1882.

Mr. John H. Phelps—Dear Sir: I have used your Rheumatic Elixir with good results and can recommend it to any person suffering with that fearful disease, rheumatism. CHAS. W. SMITH, Hatter.

☞In the Diamond Dyes more coloring is given than in any known Dyes, and they give faster and more brilliant colors. 10c. at all druggists. Wells, Richardson & Co, Burlington, Vt. Sample Card, 32 colors and book of directions for 2c. stamp.

FOR THE PUBLIC.

I owe my life to Phelps' Rheumatic Elixir During the past fifteen years I have spent over a thousand dollars for treatment of Rheumatism and never received any permanent benefit until I took the Phelps' Elixir. I consider it the best rheumatic remedy ever offered to the public.

Respectfully,
GEO. E. HOYT,

Mr. Phelps': Your Rheumatic Elixir is going to be a big thing here. Am satisfied the time is not far distant. Please send me another gross. Very respectfully,
GEORGE FRESHELL,
Apothecary, Haverford Avenue, Phila.

WANT OF FAITH.

If C. A. Kleim, the Druggist, does not succeed it is not for the want of faith. He has such faith in Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung syrup as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, and Lung Affections, that he gives a bottle free to each and every one who is in need of a medicine of this kind. July 13-eow

MR. GOUGH ON SILK HATS.

"It would be no violation of the commandment," said John B. Gouge, "if a man were to fall down and worship the silk hat, for it is not made in the likeness of anything in heaven, or on earth, or in the waters which are under the earth." Besides it heats the head and causes the hair to fall off. Parker's Hair Balsam will stop that and restore the original color to gray or faded hair. Not oily, not a dye, beneficial, deliciously perfumed. A perfect hair dressing. 50c. All druggists.

ANDREW DESMOND'S PRAISES.

Dear Sir—I lay on my side for four long months without any relief until I commenced taking Phelps' Rheumatic Elixir. It is the best medicine I ever used. To-day is the best day I have seen in twelve months. I thank you and God Almighty and no one else for my relief. I have lived and done public business in Geneva, N. Y., for the last twenty, therefore have many acquaintances that call around and see me daily and to ask about Phelps' Elixir for themselves or for some of their friends. I praise it highly. You do the talking and sign my name as my tongue could not do it justice.

BETTER THAN DIAMONDS,

and of greater value than fine gold is a great tonic and renovator like Kidney-Wort. It expels all poisonous humors from blood, tones up the system and by acting directly on the most important organs of the body stimulates them to healthy action and restores health. It has effected many marvelous cures and for all Kidney diseases and all other kindred troubles it is an invaluable remedy.

CARES OF LIFE.

As we come to them they are received, borne with, and passed over with no more than a thought, if we are in the enjoyment of health, but if suffering with Piles or skin disease of any kind they magnify a hundred fold. C. A. Kleim, the Druggist, has Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy which is an absolute cure for any affection of the kind and is sold for 50c cents. July 13-eow

DR. TANNER'S STOMACH.

Dr. Tanner certainly has a great stomach—great because of its strength and endurance. We may err in saying that the doctor uses Burdock Blood Biters, but if he does, his digestive powers are easily accounted for. Burdock Blood Bitters being a standard medicine are sold by all druggists.

ABOVE REPROACH.

Many of the wines upon the market at this day are a mixture of chemicals and water. Speer's wines have established a reputation that is above reproach, they have been endorsed by the leading Surgeons and Hospital nurses of of this country and Europe. For sale by druggists.

See a woman in another column, near Speer's Vineyards, picking grapes from which Speer's Port Grape Wine is made, that is so highly esteemed by the medical profession, for the use of invalids, weakly persons and the aged.

Sold by C. A. Kleim, Bloomsburg. sept 22-1y

The Phelps' Rheumatic Elixir for me has always acted like a charm. I think this fall it cut short a severe attack of Rheumatism. I can endorse the remedy either as a preventive or cure. Yours truly,

SOME INTERESTING FACTS CONCERNING THE MEN WHO STAND CLOSEST TO THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

Visitors, who from curiosity or business, have called at the White House, must have been impressed by the courteous yet systematic manner with which they were received and escorted through the mansion. The gentlemen whose duty it is to receive all persons coming to the White House are Colonel E. S. Denmore, Mr. John T. Rickard and Mr. T. F. Pendel, and they have occupied their present positions through the various administrations since and even during the war. Mr. Pendel was President Lincoln's bodyguard; saw him to his carriage the fatal night on which he visited Ford's theatre, and he now has in his possession the blood-stained coat which Mr. Lincoln wore on that memorable occasion. There is not a public man in America to-day who does not know, and who is not known by these gentlemen, and the reminiscences of public and social life which they can recount would fill a congressional volume. During the weary yet exciting years of the war; through the more peaceful times of Grant's administration; while Hayes held the reins of Goverement, and when Garfield was shot, it was these men who stood in the executive mansion, welcoming the advent of each new administration, bowing at its departure, and receiving both martyrs through its portals.

During that long, hot and never to be forgotten summer when President Garfield lay between "two worlds," the nation became aware of the deadly malarial influence which hung about the White House. But all through that period these three men never deserted their posts for a single day, although each one was suffering intensely. In conversation with the writer, Colonel Densmore said:

"It is impossible to describe the tortures I have undergone. To be compelled to smile and treat the thousands of visitors who come here daily with courtesy when one is in the greatest agony requires a tremendous effort. All that summer I had terrible headaches, heart burn and a stifling sensation that sometimes took away my breath. My appetite was uncertain and I felt severe pains in the small of my back. I was under the doctor's care with strict instructions not to go out of the house but I remained on duty nevertheless. You would be surprised to know the amount of quinine I took; on some days it was as much as sixteen grains."

"And was Mr. Rickard badly off, too?"

"I should think he was. Why, time and again we have picked him up and laid him on the mantel, here in the vestibule, he was so used up."

"Yes," exclaimed Mr. Rickard. "I was so weak I could not rise after lying down without the aid of two canes, and then in a stooping position. Oh, we have been in a pretty bad condition here, all of us."

And yet you are all the embodiment of health," said the writer, as he looked at the three bright and vigorous men before him.

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Rickard, we have not known what sickness was for more than a year."

"Have you some secret way of overcoming malaria and its attendant horrors?"

"I think we have a most certain way," replied Colonel Densmore, "but it is no secret. You see about two years ago my wife began to grow blind, and I was alarmed at her condition. She finally became so she could not tell whether a person were white or black at a distance of ten feet. One of her lady friends advised her to try a certain treatment that had done wonders for her and to make a long story short, she did so and was completely cured. This induced me to try the same means for my own restoration and as soon as I found it was doing me good I recommended it to my associates and we have all been cured right here in the stronghold of malaria and kept in health ever since by means of Warner's Safe Cure. Now I am not a believer in medicines in general, but I do not hesitate to say that I am satisfied I should have died of Bright's disease of the kidneys before this had it not been for this wonderful remedy. Indeed, I use it as a household medicine and give it to my children whenever they have any ailments."

"Yes," exclaimed Mr. Pendel, "I use it in my family all the while and have found it the most efficient remedy we have ever employed. I know of very many public men who are using it to-day and they all speak well of it."

"I weigh 160 pounds to-day," said Mr. Rickard, "and when my physicians told me over a year ago I could not hope to recover I weighed 122 pounds. Under such influences you cannot wonder that I consider this the best medicine before the American people."

The above statements from these gentlemen need no comments. They are voluntary and outspoken expressions from sources which are the highest in the land. Were there the slightest question regarding their authenticity they would not be made public, but as they furnish such valuable truths for all who are suffering, we unhesitatingly publish them for the good of all.

INGROWING TOE-NAILS.—For ingrowing toe-nails begin the effort at cure by simple application of solution to the tender part of a small quantity of perchloride of iron. It is found in drug stores in fluid form, though sometimes in powder. There is immediatey a sensation of pain, constriction or burning. In a few minutes the afflicted portion is felt to be dried up, tanned or mummified, and it ceases to be painful. The patient who before could not put his foot to the floor, now finds that he can walk upon it without pain. By permitting the hardened woodlike flesh to remain two or three weeks, it can be easily removed by soaking the foot in warm water. A new and healthy structure is found below. If, thereafter, the nails be no more cut around the corners or sides, but always curved across the front end, they will in future grow only forward; and by wearing a shoe of reasonable good size and shape, all further trouble will be avoided.

FEED TO GET EGGS.—Hens cannot make eggs out of nothing any more than your tailor can produce a suit of clothes from your shadow. To give good returns in eggs the fowls must have more than barely food enough to sustain life. Feed them liberally and remember that they are as fond of variety as you are. Bones and oyster shells pounded fine supply a needed element for egg production.

A French investigator finds that, in proportion to its size, the bee can pull thirty times as much weight as a horse. He probably got his idea from the great power with which a bee can push.

Labor North and South.

General John B. Gordon (who succeeded to the command of "Stonewall" Jackson upon the latter's death,) gave this interesting talk on the relative condition of labor North and South, a few days ago: "I have no hesitation in saying, sir, that the colored man today in the South is, take it all in all, much better paid for his labor and much better fed and housed than the laboring man in any part of the world. Colored labor is chiefly on the cotton plantations. A laborer gets on an average $10 a month, and his hours of labor are at no season of the year excessive. Now $10 a month does not look like a very large sum up here, but see what it means. It means, if the laborer cares to hold it clean, net profit to his credit. And I may be permitted to say that our people deserve great praise for that system which produces this result. You see, the land is divided up in this way. First of all there are the land owners, who let it on lease or work the land at their pleasure. Then there are those who lease the land and work it—either by regular payments to the laborers of a given sum or by a stipulated share in the crop. Thus the laborers are at liberty either to draw their money from month to month or to leave their wages stand, take its worth in cotton at the end of the season, and sell on their own account, or they may take part money and part cotton. Meanwhile they, with the families, live on the plantation rent free. They have their house and their patch, where they may cultivate enough corn, vegetables, potatoes and fruits to supply the family during the year. They have firing free. They can rear their chickens or their pigs. They have a cow to give them milk, and if not they have their milk free from the cattle of the owner or lessee. Moreover, they have their rations free—of bacon, bread, molasses or whatever it may be—and their money from month to month or at the end of a season, as I have said. They have a magnificent climate, which is just adapted to them. Their clothing is cheap and they need little of it. Compare the condition of the laborer up here who receives his $30 $40 or even $50 a month with that of the negro laborer on the plantation. What with rent and clothing, food and fuel, it is much harder for the laborer here to save money, while he does not live nearly as well as the man on the plantation; and I say again, our people deserve great praise for the system which so arranges labor as to produce this condition of things."

Remedies for Headache.

The following recipes and suggestions for the treatment of different forms of headache are collected from a variety of trustworthy sources: Two grains citrate of caffeine, in capsule, taken every half hour, is a very effectual remedy in nervous and sick headache. One or two doses are often sufficient to give complete relief. The only objection to its use is sleeplessness, which sometimes results if it is taken in the evening. It is probable to guarana, as being hardly ever rejected by the stomach. The following according to Dr. W. W. Carpenter, is very effectual in most forms of headache; Muriate of ammonia, three drachms; acetate of morphia, one grain; citrate of caffeine, thirty grains, aromatic spirits of ammonia, one drachm; elixir of guarana, four ounces; rose water, four ounces. Mix. Dessertspoonful every ten or twelve minutes. In nervous headache, Dr. W. A. Hammond states the value of various drugs as follows: Oxide of zinc is of great value. Ordinary dose, two grains, three times a day, after meals; maximum dose, five grains. It is best given in form of pills. Nux vomica is preferable to strychnia. The dose is one-quarter grain, after meals. If the patient be chlorotic it is well to combine a grain of reduced iron and half a grain of sulphate of quinine. Bismuth, in the form of subcarbonate, will often take the place of oxide of zinc. Dose, two grains, after each meal. Bismuth probably aids digestion more than any mineral tonic, and is of use when there is gastric disturbance. The bromines are serviceable when the nervous system has been irritated; when it is exhausted, they do harm. Phosphorus is very useful in most forms of nervous headache. The best results are obtained from dilute phosphoric acid, in doses of thirty drops, largely diluted, three times a day, after eating, or phosphide of zinc, 0.10 grain, in pill, three times a day. Arsenic as a nerve tonic, stands next in value to zinc. Dose, five drops of Fowler's solution, three times a day, after meals. Galvanism is sometimes valuable, but by no means a specific. The constant current should always be used, being careful to avoid too great intensity, lest amaurosis be produced.

Half the sugar consumed last year in the United Kingdom was made from European beets.

A lace factory is to be started at Wilkesbarre, Penn., the first in the United States.

Thousands Hastened to their Graves!

Relying on testimonials written in vivid glowing language of some miraculous cures made by some largely puffed up doctor or patent medicine has hastened thousands to their graves; believing in their almost insane faith that the same miracle will be performed on them, and that these testimonials make the cures, while the so called medicine is all the time hastening them to their graves. We have avoided publishing testimonials, as they do not make the cures, although we have of them, of the most wonderful cures, voluntarily sent us. It is our medicine, Hop Bitters that makes the cures. It has never failed and never can. We will give reference to any one for any disease similar to their own if desired, or will refer to any neighbor, as there is not a neighborhood in the known world but can show its cures by Hop Bitters.

A LOSING JOKE.

A prominent physician of Pittsburg said to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, and of his inability to cure her, jokingly said: "Try Hop Bitters." The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

FEES OF DOCTORS.

The fee of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in. We believe the schedule for visits is $3.00, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone! And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1,000 and all the year's sickness.

A LADY'S WISH.

"Oh, how I do wish my skin was as clear and soft as yours," said a lady to her friend. "You can easily make it so," answered the friend. "How?" inquired the first lady. "By use of Hop Bitters that makes pure, rich blood and blooming health. It did for me as you observe."

GIVEN UP BY THE DOCTORS

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago the doctors gave him up and said he must die, from Kidney and Liver trouble!"
